Project Title: Barbie (the film)

I'd like to build a site that takes a user through the making of Barbie and its cultural impact. I want to utilize lots of images and logos/drawings from the film to draw the user in and show off the film. I can see this site as having multiple pages or one long page. It's more important that I want the user to feel as if they are being taken through a story of the film's making.
